

TOBBLER

Dog Name: Tobbler

Number: 438

Age: 4 Years (DOB 01/08 est.) Sex: Male

Coat: Silver and White

Eyes: Blue

Tobbler is a handsome laid-back Husky with a cute white “soul patch” on left shoulder. His foster family has found him to be sweet and gentle with both the adults and children in the neighborhood. Tobbler likes to rub up against your legs, and if you get on the floor with him, he will snuggle up to you and roll over for you to pet his belly. He loves to play fetch with stuffed toys and tennis balls and brings back the toys for you to throw, over and over.

Tobbler is house-trained, using a doggie door at his foster family’s home to come and go as he pleases. He is non-destructive in the house, but does like to help with a little paper shredding if he finds it in a box or garbage can. Otherwise, he doesn’t chew on anything in the house and does not dig outside. Tobbler does not like being crated, but there really is no reason to crate him.

Tobbler loves to take quick dips in the pool. He usually walks down the first few stairs to submerge his body to cool off (especially after a walk), but he does swim a little too. He also enjoys baths as long as you don’t get the water in his face.

Tobbler is very quick to learn new commands. He knows “sit”, “paw”, “stay”, “free” and “down” and walks well on a leash. Tobbler would prefer to sleep on the sofa/bed with his humans if you let him, but quickly learned to stay off the sofa and bed at his foster family’s home.

Tobbler is not cat friendly. He walks well with other dogs, but at this point is not ready to play with other dogs. He presently would be best suited as the only pet in a new home. Because his disposition with people is so even tempered, Tobbler seems like he might be fine with young children.

Tobbler is neutered, microchipped and up-to-date with all his shots. This abandoned Husky boy has survived many of life’s ordeals and deserves a wonderful home.
